

Conversations- Week 3

1824 DISCUSSION QUESTIONS*GROUP DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Who gets to decide what is right and wrong? When it comes to our sexuality, morals, or response to stress, who decides the correct way to act and behave? Today, we live in a world that encourages us to decide for ourselves. But God has a higher calling for us. He provides us with absolute truth that we can come to for every area of our life. This week we are continuing our series of hard conversations as we discover God's truth, love, and grace in some of the most difficult topics in our world today.

1. 73 million people get an abortion each year, and in the United States 2/3 of the people who choose to have an abortion are associated in some way with Christianity. At our age (18-20s), if abortion has not personally affected you, it has likely affected someone that you know or love.

How has the matter of abortion affected you or someone you know personally, socially, politically, etc.?

2. Pastor Danny shared that he found a study completed in fall 2021 from a published medical journal, where 96% of a panel of 5577 biologists from all different religious, political, and educational backgrounds agreed that life starts at conception. If it is so commonly agreed upon that life starts at conception, why do you think we struggle as a society to agree that abortion is a form murder?

In your opinion, is the matter of abortion black and white? If not, what makes it difficult to gain clarity on the issue?

3. Read Psalm 139:13-16 and Ephesians 1:3-6. When we look to the Bible for truth on the topic of abortion, we see that our life was thought of, cared for, and God-breathed with purpose before we were even conceived, in the womb, and every day of our life after birth.

As we encounter many of the common justifications in favor of abortion, as Christ followers our trust in God's ability to work through hard circumstances is tested.

Many of the justifications for abortion include concern for the impact on the life of the mother/family or on the circumstances that led to the pregnancy like rape or incest. Read Isaiah 43:2-4. God wants to partner with us, especially in the depth of our darkest moments. When we partner with God in our hardest circumstances, he promises us no road will be a dead end.

Conversations- Week 3

How has God worked through brokenness in your life, specifically connected to abortion or in any other area of your life?

Do you believe in and trust God's ability to take even the most broken circumstances and turn them for good, especially when it comes to unwanted pregnancies?

4. Read Romans 8:37-39, Isaiah 54:10, and 2 Corinthians 12:9.

For people who have had an abortion: There is grace in unlimited supply for you. You are loved by a God who has wanted you in His family since the beginning of time. There is no depth or distance you can go that He won't follow and pursue you. There is hope and there is healing for you. How do you need to step into that grace today? What steps do you need to take to start or continue your healing from abortion?

If you have not made the choice to have an abortion: There is no higher calling than to reflect and love like Jesus. How can you seek to show grace and extend love to the people you may encounter who have made the choice to have an abortion? What impact might your grace have on those individuals' ability to heal?
